VOL. V.—NO. 1409. NEW-YORK, TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1856. PRICE TWO CENTS.

POSTAL REFORM MEETING.

IMPROVEMENTS SUGGESTED.

Letters, Speeches, &c., &c.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last evening at the large Chapel of the University, to take into consideration certain reforms in our Postal system. Many of the substantial men of the City were present.

At 8 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mr. THOMAS TILESTON, who proposed Hon. LUTHER BRADISH for the occupancy of the Chair, to which unanimous assent was accorded. That gentleman having taken his place,

MR. THOMAS TILESTON nominated officers, as follows:

SECRETARIES.—CHARLES T. MOORE, STEPHEN HASKINS.

HON. LUTHER BRADISH then came forward. He said that he acknowledged the honor (done him by calling him to preside at such a meeting, and when a subject of so important a nature was under consideration.

A well-digested and well-regulated postal system, he said, was one of the most important institutions of a free country, especially in a country whose territory is so extensive, whose interests are so varied, and whose commercial intercourse is so intimate and rapid as those of our country. But it must be confessed that in postal facilities we are far behind many countries of Europe. This should not be so. Our system should be thoroughly reviewed, and by a judicious and practical reform brought up to the perfection of the times. Its fundamental error was in the principle on which it was originally established—that it must furnish a revenue, adequate to the extent of maintaining itself. Instead of this, it should be supported at whatever expense may be necessary to render it effectual for the accomplishment of its true object. The meeting was called to consider this question in all its aspects.

MR. FRINT MILES then read letters received by him.

FROM GOV. CLARK.

STATE OF NEW-YORK, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, ALBANY, March 21, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: I am in receipt of your letter inviting me to attend a public meeting to be held in New-York on the 25th instant, in favor of Postal Reform.

Official duties, unusually pressing, compel me to deny myself the opportunity and pleasure of joining you on that occasion in advocating a Reform so important to the welfare of society, and which has long seemed to me of great necessity.

I trust that the result of your efforts will be entirely successful. With great respect, your fellow-citizen,

MYRON H. CLARK.

FROM LIEUT.-GOV. BENEDICT.

GENTLEMEN: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor, inviting me to address the public meeting to be held in the City of New-York on the 25th inst., to consider the subject of Postal Reform.

I would give great pleasure to accept the invitation, for the subject to be discussed is one of special importance. It is not easy to conceive of a Postal system more inefficient than the one under which we are now compelled to live; and I should be very happy to aid, by any means in my power, the substitution of something better. My engagements, however, will render it impossible for me to be with you on the occasion in question.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
HENRY A. BENEDICT.

THOS. TILESTON, Esq., and others, Committee.

Letters were also read from the following gentlemen:

Senator FESS, of New-York.
Senator TOOMBS, of Georgia.
Senator WILSON, of Massachusetts.
Mayor MINERS, of Baltimore.
Mayor BOSS, of Boston.
Mayor JOHNSON, of Middletown, Conn.
Mayor DOW, of Portland.
Hon. [illegible], of Ohio.
Hon. [illegible], of New-York.
Hon. EDWARD EVERETT, of Massachusetts.
Lieut. MAURY, of Washington, D. C.

THE ADDRESS.

MR. THOMAS TILESTON then read the address of the Committee appointed at the meeting held at the Merchants' Exchange. After reviewing the necessity and importance of a rapid, punctual and safe correspondence by mail, it goes into a consideration of the various departments where a change of the present system is looked for.

Uniform postage is urged as a measure most convenient, economical and profitable, exemplified in the admirable system of Great Britain. Postage on printed matter next meet with discussion. The report goes on to state that "the absurd and anomalous rates of postage on printed matter can scarcely be conceived, and are without a parallel in any public or private transaction. There is one rate for transient newspapers, another for small pamphlets, another still for large pamphlets and printed books, a fourth for transient copies of periodicals, a fifth for regular periodicals, and each of all these has a separate scale of charges, whether prepaid or not prepaid; another distinct scale, whether going more or less than three thousand miles; and on newspapers sent to regular subscribers there are three more distinct rates, depending on the locality of the publication or the distance sent. In addition to all these methods of rating postage, each separate pamphlet, book, or other article, has a distinct charge for each ounce it weighs, and each package that contains two or more articles or sheets has a separate charge for each ounce. In all, we have over fourteen hundred rates of postage on printed matter. With a uniform two cent rate for single letters, and the above scale of charges for printed matter, the average cost of postage, reckoned by weight, would be, for letters, about 96 cents a pound, and printed matter 12 cents a pound.

Free letter delivery is next considered. To prove its necessity, quite an array of figures are pressed into the service from the returns of Great Britain. The result whereof is the conviction that were the local correspondence drawn out and increased to the same extent in our cities, the number of local letters in New-York, Boston, and Philadelphia, would amount in a year to more than twenty-one millions, while the actual number now circulated through the local post in those places is less than two hundred and fifty thousand. At the same rate that is charged in Great Britain—two cents for a single letter—the revenue from this source of local correspondence in these cities ($1,000,000 letters,) would be $666,000 and the balance after deducting the expense of letter-carriers and receivers, over $400,000.

The franking system is condemned, and the Committee deem that there can be no reason why the correspondence of the people should be taxed for this purpose, any more than to pay for transporting troops, Government stores, or munitions of war. The actual cost of transporting and delivering the mail matter of the Government for many years has been estimated at from two to three millions annually, and cannot be less than $2,500,000. Instead of there being a "deficiency," as officially reported at the close of each fiscal year, the Government owes the Post-Office more than twenty millions of dollars for transporting mail matter during the last fifteen years, in addition to all the appropriations made for deficiencies, and on account of the Government correspondence, during the same period.

In the matter of ocean postage, the Committee conclude that there is great room for improvement. The report passes on to the recommendation of the money-order system, for the transmission of small sums, to the prevention of loss and the diminution of the temptation to and means of postal robberies.

Speaking in condemnation of compulsory prepayment, the Committee deem that, by an additional charge in all cases where letters are not prepaid, the Post-Office may be remunerated for any extra trouble in collecting the postage. In this way, the inconveniences, losses, and calamities, that now so frequently occur, will be prevented, and at the same time correspondence and postal revenue greatly increase.

The expression of opinion as to dead letters is explicit and full. They are fully convinced that every consideration of convenience and justice requires the return to the writers of all dead letters. By the present laws and regulations of the Post-Office Department, between four and five million dead letters are annually burned, a wanton destruction of private documents savoring more of the spirit and practices of barbarians than the practice of a Christian community. The entire expense attending the return of all dead letters to the writers would be trifling, compared to the utility of the measure, and if levied as a special tax on each person in the country who writes a letter, the annual sum could not be one-half the amount of a single letter postage at the lowest rates now charged.

MR. BARRY'S REMARKS.

Mr. LUTHER R. MARSH seconded the adoption of the address. He remarked: There is no branch of the Government, perhaps which touches us as nearly, and so often, as the Post-Office Department. The other branches are remote from us, and we hear from them but seldom. But we shake hands with the Post-Office every day. A safe, rapid, efficient and economical communication, by letter and newspaper, between the different and all parts of the country, constitutes, next to our common schools, one of the most prominent sources of education, unity and prosperity. It keeps the interchange of thoughts, of commerce and opinion, active and free. It induces more frequent communication between neighbors of the same city, between country and city, between seaboard and interior, between neighboring or distant States, and it binds them all together, uniting, even the opposite shores of our broad continent, with a firm texture and wool woven night and day by those constantly plying and innumerable shuttles. What spot in the village, around which the citizens gather with such interest and anxiety, as at that office, where "couriers arrive, bestrapped and bebooted, bearing sorrow and joy, packed up in pouches of leather?" What point in the city, where long queues of men will so pertinaciously wait their turn, as at the little windows through which are distributed the contents of the freighted mail-bags from Europe, and the million missives that bear date in every town and city of our own country!

The system by which this vast machinery is administered should be nearer absolute perfection as possible—not wedded to the heavy errors of the past—a system up with the times—willing to congrate upon it every improvement and progressive idea—keeping pace with the growth of population and the wants of the country; not content with creeping through the mud or keeping company with snails, but ready to mount a steamer, or be mounted a locomotive, or bestride a telegraph wire, as occasion may demand, and anxious to bring its opportunities and its blessings to the greatest number and for the smallest remunerative compensation.

It is difficult to devise a system of postal or other governmental regulation in our country which the country will not soon outgrow. He would be an ingenious draper, whose jacket for America, once fitting, would continue to stretch with the growth of our sturdy and swelling limbs. Alterations are continually necessary to adjust old systems to new states of things, that they may open to admit new sovereignties, and be prepared to extend their benefits over States just formed or forming, and over coming millions of people.

An improvement relating mainly to reduction in price, has been, within a few years, effected in our system of mail-conveyance. We remember how difficult of accomplishment it was; how Legislators put their fingers to their foreheads in doubt and quandary—what misgivings from some quarters, remonstrances from others, and yet, from others, prophecies of impending evil. But public opinion had taken themselves in hand, and would not brook delay. The price of letter-carriage was reduced, and new life was infused into the correspondence of the country—thousands of fingers were unlocked and set in motion which would else have rarely dipped their pens in ink. An embargo was lifted from the brains of the people. How retarded would have been the acquaintance, the friendship, and the commerce between the different sections of the Union, if the old arrangements had been permitted to remain? What man, now, in town or country, in public or private station, but would listen, with abhorrence, to a serious proposition to restore the ancient status. It was a step forward, in the comfort, the convenience, and the civilization of the age. And that time has arrived, when another step is urged upon us, by equally pressing considerations of expediency and necessity.

Great defects yet exist in our Post Office system. Perfection is not the growth of an hour. Experiment and observation are necessary to a just judgment. Yet it is not always the practical manipulators of the mails who can best rise to embrace the philosophy of the subject. They stand too near to take in but detached and isolated parts of the general plan. They are too much occupied with details, and surrounded with a bulwark of mail bags, too high for truth and improvement to overpeer. It was curious to observe how, in the great postal reform in England, the postmasters, the very men who should have best known the defects, stood heavily by every item of the old system, and resisted to calls before Parliamentary Committees against the indictments of any innovation. It argued to count, in the Postmaster of New-York, an exception to this principle, and to recognize one who is ever ready, of the fullness of the power, to remedy evils, and to admit, within his province, of just and feasible reforms.

But these remarks show that we may look in vain to the Government itself for the remedy we seek. The Government and deep-worn cast-ruts. They do to-day what they did yesterday, and what their predecessors did the day before. It is easy to follow the old routine—clerks and underings may carry it on. But to adopt new systems requires vigor and efficiency. Departments, therefore, are disinclined to change. But there is a power behind the Government that can push it on—that can "prick the sides of its intent" with goads sharp and long. Individual minds run ahead of the Government, strike out new ideas, devise new schemes, while Government lumbers heavily after. Wisdom will not die with any Cabinet in Europe or America, nor statesmanship expire with the vacancy of any Department. What is wanted now is, to call public attention to the evils of the present system—to set the mighty energies of the press to work, and to roll the great ball of public opinion up against the steep ascent of Capitol Hill.

Let Government pay its own postage. Why should the Department be compelled to carry so unjust a burden? As well compel it to transport our soldiers with their equipments, arms and ordnance, gratuitously, as to load it down, unencumbered, with the grains of the Patent Office, and the letters, libraries and wardrobes of Congress. Let us have a reduction and uniformity of charge, thus diminishing the expense of the system, and increasing correspondence. Let us have a free letter and newspaper delivery in all cities and principal places. No lagard carriers, with the grass growing under their feet, but faithful and light-heeled Mercuries. Our ice, and milk and bread, come to our doors with precision and punctuality. Our newspapers, intrusted to private carriers, are at your stops to await your rising in the morning. But our letters and newspapers that come by mail do not reach their destination with promptness and certainty. Let us have a safe and convenient system of transmitting money through the mails. There has been no improvement in this respect since the Government was launched; since FRANKLIN relaxed his hold on the clouds, to seize the handles of this Department.

Let us nip quench that periodical conflagration of all the letters which, through deficiencies in letter delivery, or for other causes, light up, with the flame of the funeral pyre, the great, remorseless Moloch, at Washington.

Give us also a cheaper and more frequent mail communication across the ocean. We thus narrow the seas. We place ourselves nearer to the capital of Europe. We more intimately connect ourselves with the business of the world; and, what is somewhat essential, we add to the income from mail service.

The great fact stands out, that, in this business of letter carrying, as in all others, the business augments in the ratio of the facilities afforded. Lay your iron tracks into the wilderness, and how soon do cleared fields, and stores, and dwellings, and schoolhouses, appear along the line. Give the assurance that letters will reach the men they are addressed to with certainty, cheapness and speed, and a brief period would duplicate the entire correspondence of the country.

AN OVERRUN'S SPEECH.

The question was about to be put, when a gentleman rose in opposition. He had been sitting for some hours prior to the time of the meeting with some gentlemen, and they, together, had been engaged in the consideration of the subject proposed for discussion. He had not heard the call read, or it would have been seen what his object in rising was. So far as was in his power to represent public opinion, he was not prepared to vote for the adoption of the address, and without wishing to elaborate before gentlemen with whom he was personally unacquainted, he would state he was present for the purpose of seeing that the rights of the public shoud not be forestalled. The call mentions such words as public opinion.

MR. FRINT MILES.—What is your name?

SPEAKER.—My name is JOSIAH BEECK, Attorney and Counsellor-at-law.

THE CHAIR.—It is right for the meeting to know who addresses them.

MR. BEECK.—Certainly, Sir, and so I announce myself to the meeting. I wish that there should be a proper expression of public opinion. I can't let that address go forth as the expression of public sentiment, with my concurrence, without intending to be egotistical. I can't consent to have the public rights represented fully and thoroughly as to the arrangements of postal reform by merchants. [Laughter.] In short, I do not believe in that report going forth as the expression of public opinion. I contend that the public should be more fully heard. [Hisses and laughter.] Making an appeal on the part of the poor is see the thing. I say, indignantly, that it is the poor who go to Washington to lobby through your measures. [Laughter.] They may be poor, but they will not be. [Cheers.] Your report is based upon the discussion of the poor. [Laughter.] I have come here, gentlemen, not only to ask of you not to make fools of yourselves, if you please. [Laughter, and cries of "Down."] Don't make fools of yourselves, now—[cries of "Order," and "Question."] Mr. CHAIRMAN, am I out of order?

The CHAIRMAN.—You are addressed to the meeting in disorderly and improper [Cries of "Question."]

Mr. JOHN C. MONTGOMERY explained to the meeting that several meetings had been held to ascertain what was the public opinion, and this was the result.

Mr. BEECK then made some further remarks, which were brought to a close by a motion, duly made seconded and carried, that "the gentleman having possession of the floor be requested to bring his remarks to a close, and that he be allowed to take a back seat," which he did.

Mr. FRINT MILES presented a series of resolutions requiring the compilation of the facts of the report into a memorial, and the presentation thereof to the authorities, and establishing the points to be aimed at as—no franking, a uniform postage of two cents, free letter delivery, no compulsory prepayment, dead letters to be returned to the writer, the Post-office money-order system, and cheap ocean postage.

Rev. Dr. OSGOOD was called up, and made some few remarks as to the bearings on social life of the postal system, and strongly advocating the reform. He was much applauded. At the conclusion of his remarks the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Fillmore in Ohio in Trouble.

From the Cincinnati Times, Mar.

We are authorized by Hon. E. B. BACKWATER, President of the National American Council, to announce that, by the power vested in him, he will, forthwith, REVOKE and ANNUL the charter of the State Council of Ohio, illegally retained by the late President of the American Order in Ohio, THOS. H. FORD, and his cooking associates, who deny and defy the action of the National Council, as the Nominating Convention held at Philadelphia on February 22d, 1856, and oppose it, as Republicans. The Ohio State Council, recognized under Thos. G. WARE, Esq., of Cincinnati, (by authority of the President of the National Council) as President, is preparing a new Constitution, which will be forthcoming at an early day.

Meeting of the Ohio State Council—A Lively Time.

FILLMORE REPUDIATED.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Times.

COLUMBUS, Thursday, March 20, 1856.

Pursuant to call of the President, the Ohio State Council met in NOTT'S Hall this morning—President THOS. H. FORD in the Chair; JAS. H. EWING and Dr. GEO. E. MORTON, Secretaries.

Something over one hundred and thirty delegates answered to their names, but the absentees were greatly in the majority.

GOV. FORD RESIGNS HIS POSITION.

The Council being called to order, President FORD made the following brief remarks:

GENTLEMEN OF THE SEVEN COUNCIL: I have not deemed it necessary to prepare an address, as has been customary by my predecessors. I have nothing particular to communicate, although something may be expected of me, inasmuch as I was but lately a member of the American National Convention at Philadelphia.

I have no defence of my conduct to make. I shall make no vindication until any action has been assailed. I am not ashamed of my conduct, nor never shall be. I deemed that the principles of our noble Order were outraged, and being unwilling to submit to it I withdrew. I thought it necessary that the State Council should take some definite action, that the State Order might move upon just and consistent principles.

The action of that Convention did not meet with my concurrence, and I acted accordingly. I suppose, then, you will act wisely and unitedly, but if you cannot act together, let us separate like men.

ADJOURNED.

After adjournment, this morning, the committee retired to prepare business, and Delegates repaired to the Neil House and discussed premeditated. A great, decided bitter dissatisfaction, regarding the illiberality of President Ford, in organizing the several committees, was expressed. A great majority developed the fact that if the State Council only acted in accordance with the action of the Philadelphia nominating convention, and an appeal to their determination to endorse the secession of Ford, and the balance of the Ohio delegation, from the Philadelphia Convention.

This alleged violation of courtesy and fairness naturally created excitement, and threatened anything but a harmonious termination of deliberations.

A motion to admit the Ohio Delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia was also carried.

The crowd cleared out, when President Ford made another appeal to the Delegates to demean themselves with dignity. He appealed to the majority to treat the minority with courtesy. He had himself felt the curse of ill-natured majorities. He would preside impartially, and hoped to satisfy everybody.

A representative said that as the Convention was convoked by the President of the State Council, he, with many others, would like to hear the object of the Convention stated.

President FORD said that he had purposely avoided an address. He could not prepare one without vindicating himself. The object must be obvious to all. The nominations of FILLMORE and DONELSON shows the necessity of a convention that we may know where we stand. I am dissatisfied that the Philadelphia Convention should have received the Catholic Delegates from Louisiana. I considered it an outrage upon our Order. This was my reason for withdrawing.

[It will be remarked that President FORD does not commit himself on the subject of Slavery. His solitary reason, he says, for withdrawing from the Convention, was that it adopted the resolution admitting the Louisiana Catholics.]

FILLMORE REPUDIATED.

Mr. FREY presented a majority report from the Committee on the State of the Order, which distinctly repudiates the Philadelphia nominations. It opens in this fashion:

Whereas, The American Organization in Ohio had its origin in, and has been maintained for, purposes of reform;

And whereas, a true regard for the honor of the American name, the security of American rights, and the prosperity of the American people requires a steadfast maintenance of the great principle of freedom upon which American institutions are based.

We, therefore, the Delegates of the Councils of the American Order in Ohio, in State Council assembled, fully approve of the action of those Delegates from Ohio in the National American Council and Convention, recently assembled in Philadelphia, in refusing to accept the platform or support the nominations then and there made, and we hereby repudiate those nominations, and embrace this occasion to reaffirm substantially the platform adopted by the State Council at its session in Cleveland in June last.

Among others, the following principles are enunciated:

Opposition to all political organizations composed exclusively of Foreigners, and to Foreign Military Companies, and to all attempts to exclude the Bible from Schools supported by the Government.

Slavery is local, not national. We oppose its extension into any of our Territories, and the increase of its political power, by the admission of any Slave States or otherwise; and we demand of the General Government an immediate redress of the great wrongs which have been inflicted upon the cause of Freedom and the American character by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the introduction of Slavery into Kansas, in violation of law, by the force of arms and the destruction of the elective franchise.

E. P. NORTON, of Hamilton, submitted a minority report, which declares:

We continue to maintain the opinion that the restoration of the Missouri Compromise would be a proper vindication of national faith, and not inconsistent with the rights of either section, North or South, and if that issue is now impracticable, it has been made so by the treacherous desertion of the pretended devotees of freedom.

We cannot sanction the course of that portion of our delegates who seceded from the American National Convention, nor can we become parties to the constructing of a merely sectional organization, and therefore recommend to the members of the American Order that they preserve it in its full integrity and its entire nationality, and support the nominations of MILLARD FILLMORE for President, and ANDREW JACKSON DONELSON for Vice-President of the United States.

A HEAVY DEBATE.

E. P. NORTON said: there is apparently a deliberate purpose to compel this Order to affiliate with some other party. [Cries of "Order" and the Chair so ruled.]

Mr. DRESSELLA, of Stark County, moved to take up the majority report. Adopted.

Mr. HUTLER, of Highland, called for a division.

Mr. BEGGS, of Lawrence, objected. He wanted to stand or fall by the resolutions, in a body. If we stand, then they are gone!

Mr. CHAPMAN laid down that the National Council had outstripped the Association in this, the Government, and that there was no difference between gentlemen here and those who had taken the oath. He argued against the admission of the Louisiana Catholic delegates into the National Convention. (Gag law again.)

Mr. McLEAN thought we had better settle this matter now, and moved to strike out all after the word "organization in the preamble, and insert:

Whereas, The American Organization in Ohio commenced its existence in 1854, and that on the 20th of March, 1855, they disbanded by consent; therefore were brought to a close by a motion, duly made seconded and carried, that "the gentleman having possession of the floor be requested to bring his remarks to a close, and that he be allowed to take a back seat," which he did.

PROGRESS OF THE FREE-STATE MOVEMENT.

KANSAS IN THE NATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

(Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.)

KANSAS, KANSAS, Tuesday, March 11, 1856.

The Legislature proceeds regularly with its business. [illegible] to the cause of revolutionary measures to secure the liberty of the Free-State movement, and then adjourn, for a time, in order to give the members time to return to their homes on the various claims, and give the settlers time to plant corn. The adjournment will probably take place some time during the present week. Very great deliberation is exercised in order to give full time for making the Charter of our Freedom.

The Free-State Party will live. Neither the surrender of its leaders to the Federal Government, nor the outrages of the Pro-Slavery party, can have power to put it down. It is the [illegible] of a free people, whose lives would be [illegible] to death rather than to its maintenance. It is [illegible] that the game of the enemy in [illegible] by their mingling into the State in general, [illegible] us by numbers, and trample on the right of freedom, we have kindled into a blaze. Even, we weak in courage, or distrustful of the justice of our cause, we might falter in this conflict, all [illegible] to this danger. But we know on what firm foundations our feet are planted. We think that we have endured till forbearance ceases to be a virtue; that we have precedent in abundance to justify us in our course; that though we have the front rank in the fight, yet the entire Nation is at our back, and that the South dare not face the thought of abandonment. We have only carried out principles and measures of Republican Sovereignty, the full extent of which, no action of courts can be construed as treason.

THE GERMAN ELEMENT.

The German Element in Kansas is composed of the bone and sinew of the people. As an evidence, I will only mention, that in other towns, except the Free-State one, there was ever before a member of a German society.

At the close of the session, to-day, a meeting was held, at which eloquent speeches were made by Gov. Robinson, Lieut.-Gov. Roberts, Senator Lane, and Mr. Conway, who has recently arrived here from the East. They were all eloquent and firm in their expressions of confidence in the present organization. The Germans were infinite.

[illegible] OF KANSAS.

Lieut.-Gov. Roberts, Dr. Irvine, the celebrated physiologist, and Mr. Conway, of Warren, Mass., arrived in town. It was [illegible] to a minor circle that he should [illegible] with one hundred sharpe's rifles and two pieces of cannon, which were on their way up the river, [illegible] a Mr. Hoyt and three other gentlemen, all from New England. Nothing was talked of the [illegible] Tuesday morning, when the steamer Arctic brought in the rumor that one hundred Sharpe's rifles and two cannon were taken on board the steamer Arctic coming up the river, and that four men, [illegible] in charge of them had been hung. This bore so nearly with the facts known beforehand to a few of us, that we feared seriously it would prove true. We concluded to wait, however, for further intelligence, and the morning it came, borne by the gentlemen themselves, who have escaped from the Missouri and other threatened outrages, and the [illegible] with us. I learn their story as follows:

They arrived at St. Louis without being aware that they were seriously suspected, and went on board the Arctic Tuesday, the 4th inst. Dr. Cureton and one other gentleman of the party concluded to take the land route and meet the steamer at some place. For fear the rifles might be taken, they took all the gates or slides from the wagon, [illegible] the cannon, to render them useless to those who might capture them. These slides were packed in their trunks, and are now in safe hand. [illegible] the rifles can never be used [illegible] the Missourians have [illegible] matched by which a smooth barrel can shoot [illegible] Mr. Hoyt, who was the [illegible] in charge of them, says there was [illegible] by no means of their being suspected. On Wednesday, [illegible] upon the table in the [illegible] bringing out the whole affair, but the character or history of this letter I am not [illegible]

The company were gone intoxicated, and a Dr. Pelham, of Independence, soon moved to throw the [illegible] and threatened all the men implicated—[illegible] so they could [illegible] the overboard side. It occurred to some one [illegible] it would be best to find out, before proceeding further, if it is certainly true that the guns were on board. The Captain of the boat, one of the first men in Western Missouri, and one of the first men in Western Missouri, [illegible] to influence all wealth. The Committee was as follows: S. H. Bell, President, of Warrensburg; O. A. McFadden, Secretary, of Richfield; Dr. Forist, of Independence; Mr. Simpson; Chas. Kearney, of Westport; Dr. Prewitt, of Parkville.

This committee soon found them down in the hold, in the bottom of all the freight, and for a time no other appeared for them. While they were proceeding their way to get them before safely, Mr. Hoyt came up and told them he would take charge of them, when they landed. This remark struck them very much like the manner of threats, which had been used

THE CITY SCHOOLS.

The Superintendent visited Wednesday and Thursday to an examination of the schools of the Fourteenth Ward. No. 12, in Mulberry-street near Prince, is one of the best-arranged school-houses in the City. The number of this house should be distinctly remembered and certain good pupils, which ought to be done for a moderate cost. Quite a large number of the boys who attend have left primary, or are entirely absent during a part of the Winter term, which diminishes the numbers of the school. The morning was stormy and it was [illegible] Principal, Mr. WILLIAMSON, the Principal teacher, is a thoroughly competent teacher, and with her [illegible] has sustained her school in good [illegible].

The Boys' Grammar School, Miss SWEENEY, Principal, with four assistants, had 140 present. The grade in scholarship was very fair, and in some of the classes higher than the examiners expected to find it. The Girls' Grammar School, Jane BOYLE, Principal, with four assistants, had 160 present, who made a creditable appearance. In algebra, grammar and geography, they were good, in reading moderate, in book-keeping and penmanship first-rate.

On Thursday the Superintendent visited "Old Number 6," in Mott-street. This is one of the solid old Public School buildings, with the basement for the Primary, with meager furniture and contracted class-rooms, and is all respects a very badly arranged house. The street is in a very bad condition, which is greatly aggravated by a miserably kept slaughter-house within adjoins the school property.

It is proposed to raise the building two stories, and wings to the front, turning the basement into play-grounds and carrying the primary school up to the floor occupied by the girls at present. This arrangement may be [illegible] and [illegible] improvement, and with new furniture No. 6 will be one of the most centrally located and important schools in the City. The Times has repeatedly urged this improvement upon the attention of the Board of Education, and the Local Board, under the lead of President GREEN and Commissioner BOMB, are determined to have the work executed the present season.

The Primary School had 248 girls and boys present, in their cellar-like quarters, under the care of Miss Mary T. GERMAIN, aided by Misses MARTIN, SMITH and PERKINS. The pupils are well taught, and appeared to be very happy and cheerful, notwithstanding their miserable surroundings.

The Grammar School, Miss OMBRETTA A. FUSSEL, Principal, aided by Misses DOWLIN, MASTERSON and WARDWELL, had an attendance of 165. The classes acquitted themselves in algebra, grammar, astronomy and in reading remarkably well. Astronomy was their strong point. All things considered, the classes sustained their reputation and standing as well as any we have visited—this was the verdict of the examiners. Certificates were given out by Mr. BOMB and Father CURRIE, who has performed the pleasant duty for the past twenty years.

The Boys' Grammar School, under the care of Mr. J. O'DONNELL, Principal, with three assistants, had 175 present. The order, management and general manner of the boys were unusual. The singing, under the direction of Mr. G. W. PARTRIDGE, was very fair. The appearance of drawing and sketching from nature were the best we have found in any school yet; in fact we do not remember a single instance in which the attempt to introduce drawing from nature has been attempted in our City schools, owing to want of suitable instruction.

The exercises in Algebra, astronomy, grammar and reading, were creditable, the astronomy, perhaps, taking the lead. The grade of the school was much better than the examiners expected to find it.

WARD TWO.

Mr. RANDALL, in company with President GREEN and Mr. BOMB, Principal of the Boys' Grammar School No. 2, made a special visit to No. 33, in Baxter-street, near Grand, for the purpose of making a careful examination of the Boys' Grammar School, under the care of Rev. MOLLENOY, with three assistants—the public examination held some time since not having been as thorough as was thought desirable. The results of the special examination were much more satisfactory, and elicited a special report in which we quote the visitors' book. This school building should be refurnished, and the interior altered and made more convenient, by the improvement of the Prevention rooms, as has been done in No. 24 in the Sixth Ward. This would add greatly to the improvement and material prosperity of the school, which is within a few steps of the Hall of the Board of Education. There is a colored school, under the care of Miss GWYNNE and Mr. PARKHURST, in Mulberry-st., in this Ward, which closes the list.

The improvements urged will not cost, altogether, over $500, and will be a most wise and effective expenditure of public money.

SEVENTEENTH WARD.

The Superintendent visited Number 19 at the corner of Ninth-street and First-avenue on Monday.

The Primary, under the care of Miss CORNELIA HOWSON, Principal, and seven assistants, had 569 girls and boys present. The class for promotion was large and well advanced. The order and tone of the school were satisfactory. The house is one of the poorest in the City. The location is good, and the grounds large enough to admit of the necessary alterations.

The two rear class-rooms in the Primary department are in a very bad condition; first, they are too dark, and, second, the effluvia from the adjoining water-closets is very noticeable.

The girls' grammar school is under the care of Miss CAROLINE HAMMERTON, Principal, aided by Misses HILTON, GERIG, HAZARD, MCFARLAND, CLARA WOMAN and EMMA WICKS,—a very effective corps of teachers, not one of them, with three others in the primary department, receive but $750 dollars per annum for their services! or $250 less than the usual rate paid in other Wards for the same service, and $250 less than is paid in the Eleventh Ward adjoining. These facts are simply disgraceful. The highest class made a first-rate show. The reading, history and algebra was unexpectedly satisfactory. There is a piano in this school, and drawing is taught by Miss HAYNES, the Vice-Principal. The singing and compositions were very good. Two daughters of Captain HAZE distinguished themselves. The specimens of needle work, drawing and penmanship were numerous and tasteful, as a general thing. The order was capital.

The Boys' Grammar School, Wm. SEBASTIAN, Principal, with six assistants, had 300 boys present, who found in the order. The classes sustained themselves well and a large number were found to be up to a high grade in reading, grammar and algebra. In the matter of etymology, Mr. SEBASTIAN's class has no superior in our schools.

Mr. RANDALL, in his closing remarks, mentioned the sudden death of J. R. BRINKERHOFF, Esq., one of the active school officers and most devoted friends of education in our City, and who had been present with us at most of the 100 schools in this City and Brooklyn, and fully aware of the furniture and recitation rooms of No. 19 are third-rate. Addresses were made, also by Captain HAZE and Alderman HOY and others. The Alderman will look after some of the discreditable things spoken of above, or we mistook the signs. The largest Ward in the City ought not to be turned off with anything else than a perfectly good, convenient and wholesome house.

TENTH WARD.

On Tuesday the Superintendent visited No. 20, in Ludlow-street. This house is a poor affair, much too small to hold all the children who seek admission. It is soon to be arranged for a primary school, as a fine site has been secured, and preliminary steps taken to erect a first-class house.

The Primary School, Miss ANNIE THOMPSON, Principal, with nine assistants, had 560 present, with comfortable seats for but about 300. The class for promotion was large and well advanced. The grade was [illegible]. The girls' Grammar School, Miss MARTHA ANNIS, Principal, with six assistants, had 325 present. The order, style and appearance of the pupils was admirable, and reflected credit on their Principal. The singing was very pleasant, without any claims to high culture. They have no piano or regular music teacher. The display of fine needlework, embroidery, sketching, painting and penmanship was unusually large, and generally of marked excellence, and the class did badly in spelling.

Mr. JOHN announced, at the close of the exercises, that the new school house would be ready to receive the pupils of No. 20 early in the year 1857, which was hailed with much satisfaction.

The Boys' Grammar School, JOSEPH W. MAYER, Esq., Principal, with eight assistants, had 338 boys present in tip-top style. The grammar, history and algebra were the strong points made by the classes. Some capital singing enlivened the occasion, under the direction of the Principal, who acts in music teacher.

Number 20 only looks worse to be one of the best schools in the City. The citizens of the Ward are very thorough in their official supervision.

BERNAN'S AND COHEN'S PROVISION AND OIL CIRCULAR.

[Per Arabia.] NEW-YORK, Monday, March 24—P. M.

Our last advices were per America, 10th inst. The Provision market throughout the past fortnight has been materially the same as previously reported—buyers restraining from operating under the discouraging news from Europe and the large increase in the packing, while holders seem not very anxious to realize, the demand for home use being sufficient to prevent stocks from accumulating. The number of Hogs packed this year out West amounted, up to as we can learn, to about 1,000,000, against 1,016,767 of last year, which, together with the 13 ⅌ cent. increase for weight, gives the aggregate increase to be equal to 601,623 Hogs.

PORK—Mess has fluctuated but very little, but Prime, having become rather scarce, on account of its being frequently repacked into Prime Mess, exhibited more firmness, and higher prices have been in fair demand. The market closes at $14 75@$15 for Prime, $15 75@$16 87½ for Mess, and $16@$17 for Prime Mess.

BEEF—A further decline of barrel Beef has taken place, but as Prime Mess, of good brands, is getting scarce, those brands remain unchanged in value.

BACON—Is comparatively scarce, and prices are well supported. Cut Meats are in fair demand, at about late rates.

LARD—Prices have declined, and tend still downward. Strictly Prime, which is very scarce, 10c.@10½c.; No. 1, 9½c.@10c.; Grease, 8c.@8½c. Tallow is very flat, and may be bought at 10c.@10½c. for Fair to Prime, yet we hear of no sales in fraction below our inside rate.

BUTTER—There is more desire manifested to clear the old stock but one. Very Butter is brought into market.

FISH OILS—The market is very firm, but quiet. Whale Oil, 68c., and Sperm Oil, $1 30@$1 35.

LINSEED OIL—There has been more done, at improved rates; 84c. is the price of wholesale lots, but with few sellers.

LARD OIL—No change in tone or value. Winter Pressed, 95c. Red Oil is more plenty, and prices are lower; 50c.@70c. for Fair and Western. Oil Cake is quiet.

WHALEBONE—We note a very firm market, at advanced figures: Arctic Polar, 50c.@60c.; Cholsak, 50c.@55c., and South Sea, 60c.@65c. ⅌ lb.

The demonstration has exploded in Ohio from the mouth of a Firearm. The telegraph of Monday gave us a brief announcement of the nomination of FILLMORE and DONELSON by the Ohio State Council at Columbus; but we publish this morning, in another part of our paper, an account of the explosion which has taken place in the American Party in Governor Pease's State, from which it would appear that the Know-Nothings have been completely shattered. The Philadelphia nomination has fallen among the Know-Nothings like a bomb-shell. The State Council repudiates FILLMORE, and the President of the National Council has resigned and received the dissenting State Council. Governor FOOD and the majority of the Executive warmly in favor of Republicanism, and a breach has been created which there is no possibility of ever being healed. The example of Ohio will not be lost on other Union States, which have been, heretofore, the strongholds of the Order.

The United States Senate yesterday, on motion of Mr. SEWARD, called upon the President to communicate to that body all the information possible relative to the late proceedings in Nicaragua. The Pacific Railroad bill was made the special order for the 14th of April. In the House, the Speaker announced the Kansas Investigating Committee, which consists of Messrs. CAMPBELL, of Ohio, HOWARD, of Michigan, and OLIVER, of Missouri.

In the State Senate yesterday, a bill was introduced to amend the law relative to emigrants arriving in this City. The Select Committee to visit the Charitable Institutions during the recess, was appointed, and consists of Messrs. Sanford, Bensavoun and Ives. In the Assembly, the State Prison contract bill was ordered to a third reading, and the bill for the relief of the New-York volunteers was made the special order for to-day.

The Ministerial Advocate of Border Ruffianism.

It is the boast, almost of the rhetorician, that the statement of an orator should ever respond to the feeling he would, be sound. Senator DOUGLAS is, in this particular, a foremost place among orators. For the last ten days the metropolitan political discussion has been the Kansas question, with sundry digressions thereon emergent a legislative and a Senatorial character. From deliberations of this nature the Senator from Illinois could not be absent. The subject was peculiarly his own. It had sprung from his brain as a certain mind being caused by MINERVA sprang from the head of the Sire of the Morning, complete in all her attributes of mischief-making, and skilled to carry confusion and dismay among those who presented herself. That the side of the question of the Border Ruffians could be defended in any different style, in a less injurious, harassing, gross, and wholly discourteous manner, for instance,—that Mr. DOUGLAS could be expected to plead their cause in the ordinary decorous and decorous formulary prescribed by courtesy and custom, are suppositions evincing the slight acquaintance of the utterer with the well-known attributes of forensic eloquence. The assertion of the place of his client, and the apologist of the desperadoes who murdered BARBER, THE NATIONAL, and DOW, is driven to the vocabulary of Sing-Sing Prison convicts to make out his case.

These striking traits of the Senator's recent speech date only from the era of the Kansas-Nebraska Bill. From that day he evidently flung aside the decorum of gentlemen, and replaced it with the swagger and slang of a shoulder-hitter. The enterprise he then undertook in supporting the outrage. In assuming the leadership of the slave-drivers, he could do so less effectively in the inoffensive language of the plantation. Among the ruffians, their champion and their justification was quite out of question. These considerations sufficiently account for the speaker's alienation for the worse. It showed itself unmistakably throughout the session of 1854-'55. It displayed itself in the popular harangues and stump-speeches of the Senator during the recess. It has attained perfection within the short period since restored health has restored him to the service of so much of the country as he is in the habit of serving. Last week Mr. TRUMBULL, the colleague of Mr. DOUGLAS, thought proper to indulge in remarks upon the Kansas report of the Territorial Committee, not observing the absence of that Senator, who entered the Senate Chamber shortly after he had done. As once the Senate was favored with an exquisite morceau in the lofty style of Mr. DOUGLAS, as studied in the Academic Grove of Border Ruffianism, of cowardly, shameless, and cowardly falsehood, treachery, and fraud, of all the characteristics that strip a gentleman of name and fame, were violently thrown on the Democrat. In the same vindictive way, Mr. SUMNER and Mr. BROOKS were alluded and mixed with the personalities of the latter and indefensible trick upon him last Winter—a charge which has been repeated, and which, if proved, ridiculous and infamous as Mr. DOUGLAS has shown it to be, a Senator of the country, the Chairman of a Committee of the Senate, and a leader of the people, then came in for his share. Body of the people, then came in for his share. Violent and unqualified vituperation and misrepresentation, and the whole strain delivered as expressive tactics, in that insolent, defiant, passionate way, resembling to bar-room politicians in the Slack West, and not wholly unknown to Tammany, but entirely exotic to the chamber of the Senate of the United States. The performance was, in fact, a master-piece of the "Swine vein;" a triumph of misplaced ruffianism and bravado, only to be surpassed by the orator himself. That feat Mr. DOUGLAS achieved on Thursday. His speech for the Majority Report upon Kansas was an extraordinary mixture of impudent disregard of truth, an utter disregard of right reason, a reckless disregard of the amenities and courtesies required in the language of one gentleman in discussing the opinions of another;—a mixture so incapable of analysis, that whether vindictiveness, or insolence, or indecency, or inveracity, be its prominent characteristic, the nicest sense must fail to discover. Such effusions admit of no answer. They are not to be treated as the mature and carefully uttered opinions of a statesman; they are the ravings of a disappointed, and almost desperate gamester at the play of politics, who has staked all and lost all, save the approbation of those to whom malign utterances of the sort come with ever-welcome zest.

It is to be regretted that no one of the elder members of the Senate find it due to the dignity of the body to rebuke this new mannerism. The swagger of the Illinois Senator is clearly based on supposed impunity. There is no one, he seems to assume, in the Chamber, who cares to venture the hazards of a tilt with a champion so fierce, and grim, and unsparing as he. An exaggerated self-importance is obviously the secret of the whole thing. Does it admit of no cure? Has the Senate no staff to strike down the irreverent barbarian that plucks them by the very beard? Has decency no spokesman, where violence and disorder have a score at least? Will no one interpose to save the vanishing dignity of the highest deliberative body in the world?

The K. N.'s at Albany.

The State Engineer, Mr. SEYMOUR, openly bolts the sham nomination of the American Party at Philadelphia, and denounces the proceedings of that Convention in a sharp letter which we publish in this morning's TIMES. Others among the K. N. State Officers, unless we are mistaken, will follow suit, are long, as several of them are sagacious enough to perceive that the current of public sentiment in the American Party is setting steadily and strongly in that direction. The nomination of Mr. FILLMORE is universally regarded, by the shrewdest members of the Order, as an imposition practiced for the exclusive benefit of the old Whig office-holders, and in the interest of the Pro-Slavery propagandists of the South. In the manner of its accomplishment they find clear proofs of fraud and of treason to the principles of the American Party, and, as it is repudiated and treated with contempt everywhere by the great mass of the party, they see nothing but certain political ruin in supporting it. In all the Northern States the Anti-Fillmore branch of the American Party will be much the strongest, and its action at the June Convention in New-York will put Mr. FILLMORE's chance of carrying a single Northern State utterly out of the question.

The State Register, the organ of the party at Albany, has changed its shape, and is to appear hereafter as a two cent. double sheet. J. A. SCOVILLE, Esq., formerly editor of The Pick, is its proprietor, and is likely to be the principal contributor to its editorial columns. The Register, as a political organ, is not likely to be a gainer by the change, as Mr. SCOVILLE knows very little about politics. The new Fillmore paper, the Statesman, was to have been issued at Albany yesterday, but we have neither seen nor heard anything of it.

How Not to Do It.

In DICKENS' new story of Little Dorrit he has given a fine piece of satire on governmental inefficiency, in the description of the Circumlocution Office and the people who occupy posts in it. When a great public duty has been shown to exist, and the necessity for any special work been demonstrated, it is the business of the gentlemen occupying places in the Circumlocution Office to strive not to do it. And they always succeed. They not only will not do it themselves, but they will not permit anybody else to do it. If we did not know that the satire was intended for local application, and that it had been provoked by the recent exposures of official mismanagement in the Crimean war, we might have imagined that it was meant to apply specially to our Municipal Government. But circumlocution offices, we imagine, abound in all parts of the world, though we question if there be another city where the inhabitants are so openly, grossly, and constantly abused by their public servants as in New-York. How not to do it is here the chief aim of all office-holders, or at least the exceptions are so few as not to be worthy of mention. The public is defrauded in a thousand ways, by the Barnacles in office, without the sufferers being conscious of the wrong done them. But there is one officer whose duty lies out of doors, in the very streets, under the eyes and noses of the people, and how he can contrive with impunity not to do it is a cause of daily wonderment and surprise to everybody. With abundant means at his command, with his reminiscences staring him constantly in the face, and the execrations of the people constantly ringing in his ears, it might be supposed that he would try to do the work he is paid for doing. But he, it seems, of all others of our City officials, cries hardest how not to do it, and succeeds as never any worthless and unprofitable servant ever succeeded before.

Our Commissioner of Streets and Lamps has intrusted to him the duty of keeping the streets clean and lighted; abundant means are put at his command; the work is the most simple and most usefully performed of any that come under the supervision of any of our City Officers, and no one neglect of his duty would be more quickly observed by those who have plenty of time to pay attention to their own affairs. He is paid, forsooth, for this work, and he takes his pay, and, with an indifference to the public complaints which amounts almost to heroism, he continues not to do it with as much success as though he had been born an office-holder and held his place by the Divine right of inheritance, instead of being elected by the vote of his fellow-citizens. Our Commissioner of Streets and Lamps is entitled to a medal from the gentlemen of the Circumlocution Office—he is worthy of being canonized by the fraternity to which he belongs.

For nearly three months he neglects the streets altogether, allows the snow and mud to accumulate, until the barriers of ice render our thoroughfares very nearly impassable; he sees the citizens turning out at their own expense, and cleaning away a passage from their doors, so that they may conduct their ordinary business; but he cares nothing for their embarrassments. The Spring trade commences, the business of our merchants must be dispatched within a certain time, or their customers will be driven off to other cities; the mountains of frozen mud in all our thoroughfares not only impede the wheels of commerce, but they are ruinous and destructive to carmen and other laboring men; but the Commissioner of Streets takes no steps towards removing the obstacles to business; he is busily engaged somewhere in trying how not to do this duty. In the meanwhile the filth accumulates, by slow degrees it runs off into the docks, through the sewers, and then has to be removed at vast expense by dredging machines, and deposited in the middle of the river. But the filth in our streets is a rich manure, which the farmers and gardeners of Long Island and New-Jersey would be glad to buy, if they could get it to fertilize their fields; but, as they cannot, they purchase, at high cost, the guano which we send ships into the Pacific to bring hither, while we allow an equally valuable fertilizer to encumber our streets and fill up and pollute our docks.

It must be only by trying most indefatigably how not to do it, that such a total subversion of the simplest principles of economy can be so perfectly accomplished by our public servants. How it happens, nobody has been able to explain, but the fact is painfully evident that there is not ability enough in our City Councils, with all the practical wisdom and experience of all the City officials added, to devise any plan for accomplishing so very simple a piece of work as that of sweeping and cleansing the streets.

The Barnacles of the Circumlocution Office have it all their own way, and it is their way to do nothing but draw their own pay, and to see that nobody interferes to do the duty which they will not do themselves.

Border Rescue.

There will be a meeting to-night at the Broadway Tabernacle, at which the friends of Freedom for Kansas will have an opportunity of hearing appeals for the Free-State cause from the lips of some of the stalwart heroes who have been engaged in the contest with real Border Ruffians. Among them are General SCHUYLER, recently Secretary of State for Kansas, Judge CONWAY, late of Baltimore, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Kansas, and General FOSDICK. There will be other speakers, but these gentlemen are fresh from the scene of action, and, it is understood, make a direct appeal to the people of this City in behalf of the New-York colony settled at Council City.

Arditi's Opera at the Academy of Music.

Signor LUIGI ARDITI's new opera, founded on the story of the "Spy," and bearing the same title, was produced, last night, at the Academy of Music. The house (about which we always feel much solicitude) was crowded by a large and tolerably critical audience. Every one likes to attend the first performance of a play or an opera. Whether the work be saved or damned is of little importance. It is equally gratifying to one's vanity to praise or condemn it. Signor ARDITI had the right kind of audience last night;—an attentive audience, and one disposed to be generous without being altogether imbecile. We are confirmed in this opinion from the fact that the last act, which is the weakest, received the least applause.

The production of an original opera in a City not peculiarly addicted to such enterprises, is entitled to some note. We are justified, no doubt, in speaking of a "new epoch in art," and to using many other agreeable forms of speech. But we have outlived the vanities of composition and abandon ourselves to the contemplation of the Opera without any regard to the epoch it marks. "La Spia" is, we believe, the fourth original opera produced in America. Mr. FRY's "Leonora" was the first, Mr. BENEDICT's "Giovanni di Napoli" the second, Mr. BISHOP's "Rip Van Winkle" the third, and Mr. ARDITI's "Spy" the fourth and last. The path of Mr. ARDITI has been strewn with roses. All his predecessors have experienced more or less difficulty in getting their works performed, but he has been peculiarly fortunate. Not only was his opera accepted as soon as it was finished, but the resources of a great establishment were cheerfully placed at his command. No expense has been spared by the management. Good singers, good instrumentalists, good scenery and good costume, have all contributed to a good result. We mention these things in connection with Mr. ARDITI's success, because they should be known. Other composers, who come and fret about the difficulties that rising genius has to contend with, will learn that merit does meet with consideration when it is accompanied with diffidence and reasonable perseverance.

Our readers are, of course, familiar with the incidents of COOPER's story, on which this opera is founded. Those who are not had better enlighten themselves at the nearest circulating library, and then "cool down" on the libretto. Mr. MANETTA is responsible for the latter production. It is exhaustive in its way, but as that way is the Italian way it fails to leave every wish gratified. Still we must give Mr. MANETTA some praise for dramatic skill in arranging the divisions of the play in such a way that there is always an exciting tableau at the end of each act. This is what a composer needs. The principal defect that we observe is a certain restlessness of patriotism which insists on bursting out on every unfortunate opportunity. Necessarily a drama of this period must breathe a martial ardor. A skillful dramatist, without subduing this, would contrast it with episodes fragrant with soothing emotions and gentle thoughts. COOPER accomplishes this in the novel, but Mr. MANETTA does not in the play. Everything is sacrificed to the patriotic enthusiasm of the moment. Consequently the three acts are precisely similar in their general characteristics, discriminated only by changes of scenery. The play begins with Dragoons and Skirmishes, goes on with Dragoons and Skirmishes, and ends with Dragoons and Skirmishes. In spite of these defects the libretto is not positively bad. The translation readily supplies much that is deficient in it, and the writing displays fancy and facility. The worst part of the libretto is decidedly the conclusion, which, together with Mr. ARDITI's addition to the produced the United States. We recommend Mr. DAPRY to make in future editions. "Hail Columbia," as a finale, is quite sufficient to satisfy the reasonable demands of the Academy audience, without any further glorification of the Stars and Stripes. We hope, for the sake of the author, that the music, which is very good, will be more fortunately treated by those who have planned the production of the opera than the libretto. The music is pretty, tuneful, and, in parts, very effective. It is not, however, so original as a new opera should be, it has points of freshness and strength which cannot be overlooked.

The performance was excellent for a first night. It will, of course, improve. Mr. ALLEGRI has prepared some new scenery, and in the second act introduces an extremely effective conflagration. We have never seen a burning house so admirably realized.

Mr. ARDITI was called before the curtain at the end of each act, and on two occasions was accompanied by Mr. MANETTA. The opera was triumphantly successful, and will, doubtless, be played for many nights.

Wallack's Theatre.

Mr. WALLACK, after an absence of some eighteen months, made his appearance last evening as Benedick, in SHAKESPEARE's Comedy of "Much Ado About Nothing."

Mrs. HUNT, as Beatrice, looked as she always does, very pleasant and ladylike. But there is not sufficient archness and piquancy about her acting; in fact, she is slightly too simpering and lackadaisical for the character.

Mr. G. HOLLAND's make up (in which he excels) was good. There was a touch of nature in his representation of Verges that deserves especial praise.

All the other characters were well and ably sustained. Mr. WALLACK on his appearance was welcomed with a perfect hurricane of applause. At the close he was called before the curtain, and in response to a cry for a speech said, that he had a great antipathy to actors making speeches to their audiences. However, if he were to refuse, it would perhaps be ingratitude—to say the least, it would show a great want of respect. He could not see such a large and goodly number of people (especially on such a night as this) without a glow of pride. He did not wish to depreciate the talent that supported him. But still he thought it was pardonable vanity—taking into consideration the state of the weather if he thought most of them were present on his account.

To-night Mr. WALLACK will appear as Shylock.

Growing Wheat in St. Helena.

From the St. Helena Herald, of Jan. 24, we notice that a successful attempt has been made to grow wheat on the Island. A sample was sent to England, and it was estimated there that the article would have brought in the London Market 70s. per quarter of 416 lbs. The Herald adds: "We may hope that the day when the import of flour will cease is not far distant, that the difficulties of the farmers are now overcome, and that instead of seeing a dispirited yeomanry, we shall see men of energy, enterprise, and hope—that hope grounded on a yearly increasing success." A six-horse-power flour mill had arrived at the Island, and the encouraging belief was entertained that the population would speedily be relieved from the starvation which, according to previous advices, seemed to stare them in the face.

Another Well-Known Citizen Gone.

NELSON ROBINSON, Esq., of the Stock Exchange, died at 4 o'clock, on Sunday afternoon, at his house, corner of Seventeenth-street and Broadway. His death was very sudden. On Sunday morning he attended Dr. BRING's Church, in Nassau-street, and afterwards rode to the Baptist Church, in Twenty-second-street, to call for his mother. As she was in the act of entering the vehicle, he was seized with paralysis, and fell forward on the opposite seat. In of short time he became insensible. When his wife returned from Dr. PORTER's Church, of which she is a member, he spoke a few words to her. They were the last he uttered. He remained insensible till he died.

On Saturday, Mr. ROBINSON attended his usual business, in Wall-street, and spent that evening supping with a friend. He has been fifteen years in Wall-street, and for a long time was a member of the firm of DRAW & ROBINSON. He was always very successful, and has left behind him nearly $1,500,000, mostly invested in stocks.

At their meeting, yesterday, resolutions of condolence were passed by the Board of Brokers, and the afternoon session suspended.

The funeral, it is understood, will not take place till Sunday, in order to give time for his son to arrive from Savannah.

Home, by ANNA LEILAH, is a domestic novel of the semi-religious cast, relating how a young man, recently married and located two hundred with other family details of an interesting character, as the parties actually concerned. We have [illegible]

LATEST INTELLIGENCE

By Telegraph to the New-York Daily Times.

[Telegraphic Transmission of Intelligence for the Press.]

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Kansas Committee—The Pacific Railroad in the Senate, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 24.

The announcement of the Kansas Committee excited great surprise. Scarcely anybody expected CAMPBELL's appointment, though I have no doubt that his course on the Committee will fully vindicate his selection. He is energetic and persevering, and fully up to the importance of establishing freedom in Kansas.

DAVIS and his friends betray great chagrin, but the general sentiment was against his appointment.

The opposition feels that it is treated with great liberality by the appointment of OLIVER.

The Pacific Railroad bill reported to-day from the Senate Select Committee is essentially that passed by the Senate last year, with the exception that it provides for only one route, open to bids, to be decided by the Secretaries of War and the Interior, and the Postmaster-General.

The Anti-Administration men are in caucus to-night for general consultation. S.

Later.—The Caucus has just adjourned. Senator FOOT presided. There were about seventy-five present. Stirring speeches were made by Messrs. SEWARD, CAMPBELL, of Ohio, CAMPBELL, ALLISON and CESSNA, of Pennsylvania, and many others. The spirit was good, and the general sentiment was in favor of the union of all men opposed to Slavery extension on that issue, and also in favor of an earnest effort for immediate admission of Kansas as a Free State. S.

Caucus of the Republicans—Speeches, &c.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 24—11 P. M.

The Republicans held a caucus to-night, and there was a full attendance. The principal speeches were made by Messrs. CAMPBELL, of Pennsylvania, CAMPBELL, of Ohio, SEWARD, GALLOWAY and PENNINGTON.

Mr. GIDDINGS urged a thorough union, as in Ohio, on the principle of requiring no one to surrender their convictions on other points if sound on the Nebraska question.

Mr. HORTON, of Ohio, thought they must look much to men, so as not to get objectionable candidates. He advocated the union of the Anti-Nebraskaites, and said the country was looking, with peculiar interest, to Washington for suggestions as to candidates and a platform. He recommended that, without abating principle, conservative feelings should be respected.

Mr. GALLOWAY earnestly argued that Freedom was the great overshadowing issue, and he warranted that even Anti-Nebraska Americans, as he found in New-Hampshire, so regarded it.

Mr. CAMPBELL of Penn, said the American feeling was very strong in the Central and Eastern portions of that State, and to carry Pennsylvania its aid must be secured to the Anti-Nebraskaites. He looked with the most ardent hopes to such a union effected.

Mr. CAMPBELL of Ohio, referred to his pledge when the Nebraska bill was passed that he would oppose it to the bitter end, and he would carry out that pledge to the letter. He would vote for no man who advocated that iniquity and outrage. He advocated a union of all the elements and opponents of the Administration, like that which so gloriously triumphed in Ohio last October, and pointed to that State as a noble monument of Freedom.

Messrs. ALLISON and CESSNA, of Penn., said in their part of the State the Anti-Nebraska feeling was predominant, and concurred in the views expressed by Mr. CAMPBELL, their colleague—namely, of the necessity of harmony and union to carry the State.

Mr. SEWARD made the closing speech, and like Mr. CAMPBELL, of Ohio, was frequently applauded. He urged union, saying the great practical question was to rescue Kansas from the tyrant's grasp by her admission as a State. He hoped the House would push the bill for that purpose to a passage, and send it to the Senate. In the event of its failure in the latter body, the President might find difficulty in obtaining money from Congress to "crush out" free settlers of Kansas. The issue having been made here, the people will see to the vindication of principle in the election of a President.

At 11 P. M. the Caucus adjourned to meet next Monday.

The Composition of the Kansas Commission.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 24.

The prominent topic of discussion here to-day is the composition of the Kansas Commission. Mr. CAMPBELL was selected Chairman, because he was the leader of the Anti Nebraska party in the last Congress, and (as Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means) leader of the House in this. His being a Western man was also a recommendation. Mr. HOWARD is regarded as an able lawyer, and was the general choice of the Republicans, who objected to Mr. DUNN on account of his course concerning the Speakership.

Mr. OLIVER, of Missouri, was recommended to the Speaker by prominent Nebraska representatives, as their choice for the minority member of the Committee. The vacancies thus created in the Committees of Ways and Means and Elections will probably be temporarily filled. The investigation will consume at least two months, the Committee being determined to have a thorough scrutiny. They will take a Clerk and Stenographer with them, and two or three Marshals to subpœna witnesses.

The St. Nicholas Society—Peace Festival.

The family meeting of the St. Nicholas Society, in celebration of the Peace, or Easter season, was held last evening, at the Metropolitan Hotel. J. De Peyster Ogden, Esq., the President of the Society, sat in the chair. He was supported on the right and left by Messrs. De Peyster and King, ex-Presidents of the Society, and by Messrs. Van Wagenen, John Van Buren, and Andrew Mills. The divertisement of the evening merely consisted in the cracking of nuts, the fragments of which were aided by a profusion of "fairy-rings." The company numbered not less than six score persons, who enjoyed themselves as best they knew how, under the order of the evening, declared by the President, in his opening address, to be "long speeches and short speeches." Pipes and a speech or two-fold with from John Van Buren, John A. King, and such the venerable men—made the night merry till pretty near next day.

Military Fete.

The "Guion Cadets," (of the Ninth Regiment,) Capt. MUNROE, held their Annual Ball of the Apollo Rooms last evening. Not less than two hundred persons participated in the festivities. Gen. F. Maxsimon was among the invited guests, and spoke briefly at the supper table to a toast in his honor.

The Weather Yesterday—St. Patrick's.

Yesterday was not St. Patrick's day, but it was celebrated as such by the majority of the Irish residents of the City, who, under the guidance of their spiritual head, Archbishop HUGHES, refrained from the due observance of the 17th inst., the real St. Patrick's day, on account of the Sabbath falling on that day. The Archbishop was blamed by many persons for thus postponing the celebration, but he was fully justified yesterday. The weather was fine, though. About noon the streets gathered, and finally began to rain. Then a storm set in of sleet, hail and rain—and no Irishman could have chosen a more unfavorable time—all equally and equally, perhaps, unfortunately wet and uncomfortable, for celebrating the festivity of his patron saint. Whenever St. Patrick's birthday is kept it is sure to show storms. The Irish Archbishop Hughes will never be convicted of premature it until the Fourth of July.

THIS DAY PUBLISHED,
THE COURTESIES OF WEDDED LIFE;
BY MRS. MADELINE LESLIE.
First edition of 3,000 copies ordered in advance of publication.
Second edition of 2,000 in Press.
This is a work of the month, and should be read by all who have been, are, or would be married. It is an able vindication of the Divine institution of marriage, not didactic but descriptive, and most admirably adapted to control the judgment and heart, to sanctify and perpetuate the social ties and joys of wedded life.
It delights those who have read it, either in manuscript or in sheets. Read what they say:
From One Critic.
A series of life-like pictures, woven into a story of no ordinary interest, simple and beautiful in style. True to nature in its scenes and characters, which are drawn with the skill of an artist, most pure and elevated in its moral tone, and bidding fair to be a great favorite with the public.
From the Boston Daily Atlas.
It will delight our readers, and shed new light on the time-honored institution of marriage.
From the Evening Transcript.
Its style is beautiful, its simplicity, naturalness, and control over the sensibilities and emotions of the reader, its characters well sustained, and its moral tone worthy of the highest praise.
From the Boston Daily Journal.
A narrative of family life, skillfully embellished, containing incidents, thrilling information, conducted in accordance to the best standards, and most pure and salutary in its social and moral influence.
From the Bay State.
It should be read by every husband and wife, and by all who expect to enter into such relations, to make them wiser, better and happier.
A copy of this work will be mailed to any part of the United States and British Provinces, free of postage, on the receipt of $1, by the publishers.

20,000 IN ONE MONTH!
ERNEST LINWOOD.
By Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz.
Although but a single month has passed since the first copy of this brilliant book was issued, yet so great has been the demand for the last and most beautiful work from the pen of the lamented authoress, that we are now printing the TWENTIETH THOUSAND.
With unabated demand still pressing us. Since the days of the Lamplighter, no book has sold so rapidly, or become so universally popular.
Col. Fullam, of the New-York Mirror, in one of the most elegant articles ever penned, in regard to authors, or their productions, uses the following strong and beautiful language:
ERNEST LINWOOD.
"Death dark as his eye, and as unpitiable his wings,
But the sweetest song is the last he sings."
In the volume entitled "Ernest Linwood," just issued by Jewett & Co., of Boston, we have the dying song of the elegant and gifted Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz. Mournfully sweet, like the sigh of an Æolian lyre, yet deep and oracular as the voice of many waters, it seems to have been poured forth while her soul floated down to the ocean of Eternity, on which, perhaps, she can trace the shadow of the death-angel, who bore her away when her sun was ended. Mysterious gleams from beneath the uplifting veil of Spirit-land startle us as we read. The book is a broadcast farewell—a lingering hand-grasp from one we loved. If we mistake not, its most impressive passages are reflections of the inner life of the writer—wonderfully vivid and absorbing, because wonderfully real.
We will not attempt to follow out, in this notice, the thread of an intricate tale; in so doing, we should only anticipate scenes and events, which come with beautiful linkings and fine effect, before the eye of the reader. We would not rob the book of half its charm.

SPRAGUE'S NATURAL PHILOSOPHY
OF COMPRISING
Mechanics, Hydrostatics, Pneumatics, Acoustics, Magnetism, Electricity, Electro-Magnetism, Light and Heat. In 1 vol. 12mo. pp. 300 engravings. Price 63c.
The best works upon Experimental Science in the course of time become obsolete; and the progress of the now age has rendered most of the treatises upon Natural Philosophy useless. No intelligent teacher will question the need that exists for a new work, adapted to the advanced state of the sciences, to the superior apparatus of modern times, containing accounts of the recent improvements in the mechanic arts, and at the same time within the comprehension of the great mass of pupils.
This is an original work, from the pen of a gentleman who has had a wide experience as a teacher and lecturer. It is believed that it meets the requirements of the times, and will be found to be the best treatise, in matter, in style of illustration, and in mechanical execution, now published.
Copies will be sent to Teachers for examination, postpaid upon the receipt of 50 cents in postage stamps.

RAVENSWOOD, L. I.—VILLA AND COTTAGE HOUSES FOR SALE.—The whole of the well known and beautifully improved property, excepting the house occupied by the subscriber, situated on the banks of the East River at Ravenswood, within half an hour's pleasant sail from the City, consisting of five nearly new first-class Italian style lower houses, ready for occupancy, every modern convenience, grounds tastefully laid out, with extensive lawn in front and promenade, with sea wall on the water's edge. Also, four Italian cottages, well built and very conveniently arranged; plots 230 by 40 feet; division lines formed by evergreen hedges, and houses retired 50 feet from the road, with pleasant door-yards. There are probably no situations in the vicinity of New-York combining in the same degree salubrity of location, facility of access by steamboat, and all the advantages of retired suburban residence which these places afford. Terms reasonable, ranging from $15,000 to $25,000. Apply on the premises, or at No. 288 Brewster, (Williams-ave, Williams & Co.) to JOHN H. WILLIAMS.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE—On the north side of 26th-st., between 4th and 5th-ave., and in the vicinity of the Great Central Park, consisting of three houses, the first three located in the interior, there are no conveniences for transporting the produce to market, Railroads not having been introduced there. That to send the produce of these lands one or two hundred miles by wagon to market, would cost much more than the expense of cultivating them; and hence, Government lands thus situated, at $1 25 per acre, are not so good investments as the land of this Company at the prices fixed.

The same remarks hold good in relation to the lands in Kansas and Nebraska, for although vacant lands may be found nearer the water courses, the distance to markets is far greater, and every hundred miles the produce of those lands is carried either in wagons, or interrupted water communications, increases the expense of transportation, which must be borne by the settlers, in the reduced price of their produce; and to that extent proportionately are the incomes from their farms, and of course, on their investments, annually and permanently reduced.

The great fertility of the lands now offered for sale by this Company, and their consequent yield over those of the Eastern and Middle States, is much more than sufficient to pay the difference in the cost of transportation, especially in view of the facilities furnished by this road, and others with which it connects, the operations of which are not interrupted by the low water of Summer, or the frost of Winter.

PRICE AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The price will vary from $5 to $25, according to location, quality, etc. Contracts for deeds may be made during the year 1856, stipulating the purchase money to be paid in five annual instalments. The first to become due in two years from the date of contract, and the others annually thereafter. The last payment will become due at the end of the sixth year from the date of the contract.

INTEREST WILL BE CHARGED AT ONLY THREE PER CENT PER ANNUM.

As a security to the performance of the contract, the first two years' interest must be paid in advance, and it must be understood that at least one-tenth of the purchased lands will yearly be brought under cultivation. Longer credits, at 6 per cent per annum, may be negotiated by special application. Twenty per cent from the credit price will be deducted for cash. The Company's construction bonds will be received as cash.

CHEAP FRAMED FARM BUILDINGS, WHICH CAN BE SET UP IN A FEW DAYS, CAN BE OBTAINED FROM RESPONSIBLE PARTIES.

They will be 12 feet by 20 feet, divided into one living and three bedrooms, and will cost, complete, set up on ground chosen anywhere along the road, $160 in cash, exclusive of transportation. Larger buildings may be contracted for at proportionate rates. The Company will furnish all the materials for such buildings over lands' road gratuitously.

Special arrangements with dealers can be made to supply them purchasing the Company's lands with fencing materials, agricultural tools, and an outfit of provisions in any one city, at the lowest wholesale prices.

It is believed that the time, long credit, and low rate of interest, charged for these lands, will enable a man with a few hundred dollars in cash, and ordinary industry, to make himself independent before all the purchase money becomes due. In the mean time, the rapid settlement of the country will, probably, have increased their value four or five fold. When required, an experienced person will accompany applicants, to give information and aid in selecting lands.

Circulars, containing numerous instances of successful farming, signed by respectable and well-known farmers living in the neighborhood of the Railroad lands, throughout the State—also, the cost of fencing, price of cattle, expense of harvesting, threshing, etc., by contract—or any other information will be cheerfully given on application, either personally or by letter, to Hiram Onsum or Sprague, addressed to

MEDICAL.

TO THE AFFLICTED.
A MEDICAL WONDER.
HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM,
RHEUMATISM, GOUT, AND NEURALGIA
In their most painful form;
ALSO,
Scrofula, Old Ulcers, Erysipelas, Great Impurity of Blood, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Fistula, Piles, Liver Complaint, Kidneys, Debility, etc.; Canker Sore Mouth, Ulcerated Sore Throats, Asthma, Incipient Consumption, &c. &c. &c.

Are most certainly cured by this great purifying medicine.

A thousand cases have been cured, and published in the Sun, Times, Herald, and other papers, after all other remedies had failed.

SCROFULA.

A lady in the family of F. W. Gilley, Esq., of the well known Bowery dry goods store, No. 110, has just been cured of a case of scrofulous ulceration of nine years' standing, and of so stubborn and distressing a nature, that many of the most scientific of the medical profession had failed to cure or find a name for. Mr. Gilley will most cheerfully give any information in relation to this most extraordinary case to any person who may desire it.

Mrs. BURTON, No. 137 Eldridge-st.—This lady had suffered for years, until life became intolerable; some of the ulcers had consumed the flesh to the skull and bones. She was cured in a month.

ULCERS.

W. JARVIS, Esq., No. 277 Hicks-st., Brooklyn, was afflicted for years with a destructive ulcer on the leg, resulting to the bone. After the physician had exhausted his skill on it, he recommended amputation as the only means of saving life. Mr. Jarvis then, as a last resort, commenced with the Life Balsam—three bottles perfectly healed this terrible ulcer.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF ULCERS TEN INCHES IN LENGTH, AND REACHING TO THE BONE.

Mr. WM. McCLARREN, No. 26 Reade-st., was lately cured of several terrible ulcers on the leg, one of which was upwards of ten inches long, and had discharged several pieces of bone. Mr. McClarren had been attended by able physicians, who were unable to arrest the progress of this desperate case, which the Life Balsam perfectly cured in a very short time.

DYSPEPSIA.

Mr. JAMES McKEE, whose office is at No. 42 Front-st., was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia of the severest kind for years, when he was perfectly cured by the Life Balsam.

RHEUMATISM.

Mr. T. JOHNSON, No. 128 44th-st., was a cripple most of the time during four years; his knees were swollen to twice their natural size, and the pains he endured were most intense. One bottle enabled him to walk, and three completed the cure.

SEVERE INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM AND GOUT.

B. RICE, Esq., No. 62 Grove-st., was for more than a year so severely afflicted that he had to abandon his business, and was soon unable to walk or rest his foot upon the ground. His feet and joints were swollen to double their natural size, and he was unable to enjoy one hour's sleep except though opium or some more powerful drugs. Mr. Rice visited the Springs, and had the best medical advice, but he could obtain no relief until the Life Balsam came to his aid. A few bottles restored him to excellent health, nor has he suffered any other attack, though five years have since elapsed.

COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION.

The Balsam is daily curing the worst cases of these complaints. It cured Mr. J. H. Gower of pain in the side, breast, and spitting of blood, after he had been afflicted for years, and was reduced to the last stage of weakness, and considered beyond the reach of medicine. Mr. Godwin's office is at No. 114 Elizabeth-st. He is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. Let the afflicted call and see him.

Principal depôt, No. 246 Grand-st., where advice will be given without charge. 75 cts. per bottle; six for $4.

For sale also by C. V. CLICKENER & CO., No. 81 Barclay-st.; G. H. KING, Nos. 193 Broadway; WHEELER & HART, No. 20 Beekman-st.; BARNES & PARK, No. 104 Broadway, and by the Druggists generally. Agent for Brooklyn, Mrs. HAYES, No. 178 Fulton-st.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS.

DR. WATSON confines his practice to a certain class of disease, in which he has treated more than twenty thousand cases, without one instance of failure. The worst cases are cured, and do not keep the patient from business or expose him to detection, while in most recent cases there is a cure in twenty-four hours. Dr. WATSON refers to cases that have been described by the proprietors of certain cheap nostrums, and been injured by them; patients are respectfully invited to call, in the first place at his office, no charge for consultation.

APPOINTMENT OF POLICE JUSTICE.

I learn that the Governor has determined to appoint CHARLES J. WARREN, of your City, Justice of the Police Court, in place of Justice SOUMER, found guilty of malfeasance in office. Mr. WARREN is well known to almost every resident of the City, as a laborer in the Temperance field. I understand he was strongly recommended by the leading Reformers, and by many of the most influential members of the bench and bar. LEO.

Another Repudiator of Fillmore.

SILAS SEYMOUR, Esq., the State Engineer, and an "American" State Officer, in reply to a letter from Delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, declares himself decidedly against the FILLMORE and DONELSON nominations, for the reason that they were made by fraud, against the popular sentiment of the Convention, in disregard of "Know-Nothing" principles, and with a view, singly and solely, to the political supremacy of the South. We subjoin the essential parts of this letter, which appeared yesterday in the Albany State Register:

Though a large majority of your delegation were in favor of the nomination of Mr. LAW, I think I am not mistaken in assuming that you were ready to concur in any conclusion of the Convention which should not sacrifice the principles of the American Party. Mr. LAW was sustained, with due regard, of course, to his eminent qualifications, but especially because he was know to be intimately and thoroughly identified with the American Party and its principles. He was known to have withdrawn from, and denounced the Democratic Party on the occasion of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the admission of alien votes into the Territories; and whatever of political power he had acquired or exercised, he had devoted to the advancement of the American Cause. He was not shackled by any former political obligation, nor weakened by odious relations to any sectional issue. Yet, the presence of conservative Americans was not limited to Mr. LAW. A fair representative of American principles was required—nothing more. But the machinery of the Convention was in hands skilled in treachery. By some strange juggle, New-York was placed nearly at the close of the list of States, so that in voting your preference might be kept concealed from the Convention, and misrepresentation on that subject have full latitude till the last moment. A rule was adopted allowing single delegates to cast the votes of entire States. In some instances, persons were elected as members of the Convention, who had managed to procure admission for the purpose of betraying it, who had done their work by once withdrawing and to make a show of sectional secession, were afterward suffered to rush back to perpetrate a new act of treachery by making a nomination which sinks from view the principles and objects of the American Organization.

That the nomination so made was against the wishes of two-thirds of the Delegates from this State, and the preference of more than two-thirds of the American members of the New-York Legislature and New-York State Officers, you know. An extraordinary anomaly this, certainly—a candidate for a position so important, selected from, and put forward for support by, a great State, against the so emphatic sentiment of such State! But more—that nomination was not made by a majority of the Convention present and voting on the question. Examination of the record shows that ninety-five votes were cast against Mr. FILLMORE, and only eighty in his favor by professed Delegates present, for themselves, on the decisive ballot, and that the majority was only obtained by multiplying the votes of single men, some of them, I have learned, not delegated, from Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, &c., to the number of the electoral votes of those States. In every point of view, the nomination of Mr. FILLMORE must be regarded as a fraud upon the American Party. But it might, perhaps, be submitted to, as one of the unfortunate mischances of political management if it did not involve an utter and fatal betrayal of the principles to which the party stands pledged before the country, and cast from which it possesses no vitality, no claim to the public confidence. Mr. FILLMORE has never been known as connected with our organization. And I am credibly informed, that up to the eve of his departure from the country he denied all such connection. He has not been nominated as an American, but as a Whig, and a partisan of Southern interests. In fact, he was already in nomination by a portion of the Whig party, the party to which he has always belonged and from which he has not up to this hour separated himself.

Gentlemen, the American Party does not submit to this betrayal. It is a sectional and bastard movement—made by a section only—nominated in a section only. It is true that the strong habit of submitting to what appears to be regular in a party sense produces, to some extent, an apparent acquiescence in our State; but when the voice of the whole country reaches us, we shall hear no favorable response from the East or from the West. New-England, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and all the Northeast, will unite in standing by the principles of our Order, and in refusing to engage in a fruitless sectional contest for the benefit of our betrayers.

A large majority of all the Delegates from every Free State, except New-York, New-Jersey, and California, met in Convention at Philadelphia, and protested against the action of the Convention which made the nomination. You are aware to what extent your own body sympathised with this movement. This Convention also united in a call for a National Convention of the party, to meet in the City of New-York, in June next, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President, to be supported by the American Party of the whole Union.

Such is the spirit in which this sectional nomination of Mr. FILLMORE is received.

You truly observe, that the Southern Delegation did not give a single vote "from any other impulse or founded on any other sentiment than the one unvarying purpose to sectionalize the party, and make it subservient to their own views and their own interests, regardless of the strife they infamed, and of the ruin their course threatened to bring upon the hopes and the great objects of the party."

Upon this observation I have a single comment to make. The pertinacious pursuit of the one only object which you specify was achieved to with a perfect knowledge of the result to which it tended. The Southern members of the Convention knew as well as it is known here, that the nomination they made could not be a successful one, and they made it with the settled purpose that it should be defeated. It was a profligate move on the political chess-board, to effect the election of the Democratic ticket, thereby to secure a protracted lease of power in the hands of the South for its sectional purposes.

My counsel, therefore, to all true Americans is, to hold themselves aloof from the unfortunate sectional nomination which has been thus unfairly thrust upon the country, and, in good faith, unite with their brethren in the June Convention at New-York, to redeem our cherished Order and carry forward its great purposes to ultimate and complete success.

I am, with great respect, your ob't serv't,

S. SEYMOUR.

The Disaster at Philadelphia.

From the Morning Bulletin of yesterday.

The body of THOMAS SMITH, described in the Bulletin of Saturday afternoon, was the only corpse taken from the river during Saturday. Yesterday the search for bodies was continued, and about 4 o'clock in the afternoon the remains of EDWARD BURNHAM, formerly a conductor, but more recently employed as a transportation agent on the Camden and Amboy Railroad, were found. The deceased was about 35 years of age, and resided in Fourth-street, one door below Mickle, Camden, where he leaves a wife and four children. The watch of Mr. B. stopped at 3 minutes to 2 o'clock. The face was slightly scratched, and his coat was burned off.

During Saturday the body of Miss FULLERTON was twice brought to the surface, but, in consequence of the running ice, the grapple hooks broke through the dress before the body could be secured. The total number of bodies secured, up to last night, was thirty-one. It is supposed that nearly an equal number still remain at the bottom.

This morning the search for the bodies of the victims was resumed and continued unsuccessfully until about 1 o'clock, when it was discontinued in consequence of the rain and snow, which was then falling very heavily.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Who Gains by the Great Asper Suit?

The interesting and long-disputed case of OGDEN vs. ASPOR, which has been so often before the Courts, and in which no less a sum than $200,000 was involved, has been at length settled by a compromise. Mr. ASPOR pays Mr. OGDEN half the amount claimed, $125,000, and charges himself with the total expenses of the suit, about $18,000. The family of Mr. OGDEN consists of Mrs. ANNA COMA RIVERIA, (formerly Mrs. MOWATT, the well-known actress,) Mrs. TOMPKINS, the wife of the artist of that name, now in ROME; Mrs. BURNHAM, the wife of Dr. BURNHAM, also in ROME; Mrs. LOUISA TURNER, wife of Dr. WILLIAM TURNER, of this City, Mrs. WILLMAN and Mrs. SETTE. Thus ends a trial, which, from the duration and interest, has attracted as much attention as any which has occurred in this City.

Mrs. MARY N. LEE, daughter of Rev. Dr. BURNS, and relict of the late JOHNSON T. LEE, (who was accidentally killed a short time since on the Hudson River Railroad, near Bloomingdale,) died of consumption on Friday evening last, and her remains were removed to their final resting place on Sunday, from the residence of the father.

It is believed that the Banks, in the aggregate, begin the new week with a larger sum in Specie than the average of last week. The Bank of America holds, to-day, $2,500,000, against $1,714,000 reported as the average on the present statement. The showing altogether is a favorable one, and in no respect more so, in the estimation of many business people, than the pause exhibited in the line of Loans and Discounts. The present week opens on a quiet, easy Money Market, rating 7 ⅌ cent. on demand and for short paper, and 6 or 9 ⅌ cent. on 90 days to 6 months. The Foreign Exchanges for the Boston steamer also look well. The demand for first-class bills at the outside rates of 109⅝@109¾ is not important, the only considerable sales effected being at 109⅝; the market generally flat, particularly so on France and the North of Europe. The shipment of Specie on Wednesday is not likely to be large.

The sudden death, on Sunday afternoon, of Mr. NELSON ROBINSON, an old and wealthy member of the Stock Exchange, was announced at the Brokers' Board this forenoon, and the Board, as a mark of respect, adjourned over until Tuesday—omitting the usual second meeting to-day. Mr. ROBINSON was at his business on Saturday, and at church on Sunday. While returning from the latter, in his carriage, he was taken suddenly ill, and after suffering for a few hours, from what appeared to be an attack of apoplexy, died at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. He was in very weak health night or ten years ago, since when, with the exception of a brief attack in 1853, his general health had been good. He entered Wall-street about the year 1840 as the partner of Mr. DANIEL DREW, after having made a fortune by hardy industry, from small beginnings, and lost it in the vicissitudes of business, since when his accumulations, with one or two interruptions, have been large and steady, and he leaves an estate, in value not far from a million of dollars. He was a native of Putnam County, in this State, and leaves a family of five children and a widow.

There was a light business done at the Stock Exchange, partly in consequence of the foregoing event, with a general tendency to lower figures than the closing rates of Saturday, although it is not believed that the position of Mr. ROBINSON, as buyer or seller, at the time of his decease was such as to materially influence the market. The Western Road Stocks were steady—Galena 2 ⅌ cent. in advance of previous sales. Erie opened at 37, and sold at the Board at 36¾. After the adjournment, a line of 3,000 shares was disposed of by a single broker at 36¾@36¾; Reading, 91¾; New-York Central, 92¾; Hudson, 84¾; Toledo, 77¾@78; Illinois Centrals, 91; Tennessee Sixes, 66 cash, and 95 seller four months. A dull feeling prevailed at the close.

The Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Company—Lake Shore Road—have made an extra dividend of 10 ⅌ cent. from the surplus earnings of the past year. The Company are building a second track from Cleveland to Erie, for which purpose they will add about one-third more to their capital stock, to be divided to the old shareholders at par.

Telegraphic information from New-Orleans has been received by the friends of Mr. WARDE intimating to the effect that his health has taken a favorable turn, and that he is out of immediate danger.

The new State Canal Loan of $1,000,000 is 6 ⅌ cents., 10 years to run, is to be awarded to the best bidders, by the Canal Fund Commissioners at Albany, to-morrow, Tuesday, at 12 o'clock noon. It is believed that the Loan will go off at a liberal premium, owing to the demand, immediate and perspective, for banking purposes. No other Canal Stock will be opened until after the close of the current fiscal year of the State, Sept. 30.

The Sub-Treasury received to-day, $175,522; paid, $185,379; and held at the close a regular balance of $5,218,070.

DENNIS KIMBERLY and JOHN C. HOLLISTER, Esqs., of New-Haven, are appointed Commissioners on the estate of the Jerome Clock Company, and WM. P. BURRALL and DWIGHT MORGAN, Esqs., of Bridgeport, are the Commissioners on P. T. BARNUM's estate. The time for presentation of claims is limited to sixty days.

In our notice of the new Tariff bill of Mr. JAMES we erroneously stated that Cotton fabrics were reduced instead of raised 5 ⅌ cent. from the old duty of 25 ⅌ cent. They appear in the 30 ⅌ cent. schedule of Mr. JAMES.

Money Circular for Europe.

Translated Extract.

There is no material change in our Money market since our advices of the 19th inst. The payment by the Sub-Treasury of about $1,[illegible], on account of the Mexican Indemnity, has neutralized the effect produced by Stars of Specie Importations, which, however, are but slowly taking place. The news from Liverpool of the 19th last. unanimously confirms hopes of an early peace, although, consequently in our Stock market no great activity, has caused for a short while a rise, which is, however, barely sustained, and the market closes dull. With the exception of State Stocks, our subjoined table of daily quotations shows some improvement. In Virginia 6s, Indiana 5s, and Missouri 6s, the business has been small, with a slight decline on the two latter. Some Ohio 6s, 1856, have been sold at 100¾. No variation in rates in City or County Bonds, the demand being principally for small lots of Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Chicago, Sacramento and Wheeling 6s, Railroad issue, and for St. Louis City and County. We notice a transaction of some importance in Des Moines County 8s: they are now held at higher rates. In Railroad Bonds, transacted at the Stock Exchange, the business has been very limited—say, in New-York Central 7s, Erie 7s of 1865-'71-'75-'83, in Hudson River 1st Mortgage, in Illinois Central Construction, and in Hudson River 2d Mortgage, transactions were more important. At private sale, there have been some transactions in Greenbay, Milwaukee and Chicago 1st Mortgage, and in Milwaukee and Mississippi 1st Mortg. 2d Section. There are no 2d Section in the market. Railroad Stocks have generally risen, more or less; large transactions taking place in Erie, Reading, Cleveland and Toledo, and in Hudson River; they have been less important in Michigan Southern and Central, New-York Central, Cleveland and Pittsburg and in Panama. Money is easy at 6@7 ⅌ cent. for loans on call; business paper from 7@9 ⅌ cent., according to class and length. In Exchange on Europe, not much activity; on London, principally, 109¾@109¾; and Paris, 5.17½@5.15¾.

DE COPPET & CO.

Purchase of Coin at the Mint.

From the Official Notice of the Mint Director.

The silver offered for purchase will be weighed, melted and assayed, as usual, and the standard weight determined therefrom, in ounces troy, to the hundredth part of an ounce; and will be paid for (at present) at the rate of one dollar twenty-two and a half cents ⅌ standard ounce. The receipt given at the first weighing must be presented by the seller or his order, and usually payments may be expected on the day following the date of receipt, or the second day following.

For the information of the public, it may be stated, that according to the above rate of purchase, the yield of various classes of coin or bullion will be about as follows:

	Cents.
Five franc pieces	92
Mexican and South American doubloons	105¾
Old Spanish dollars	105
Revolutionary, or "hammered" dollars, (often mistaken for the true Spanish dollar)	101
Half-dollars of the United States coined before 1837	92½
The same since 1837 in the last change of standard in 1853	92½
Quarter-dollars are proportionally less productive of premium, while dimes and half-dimes, coined before 1837, have lost rather more by wear, on an average, than the premium would make up; those coined since 1837 to 1853, will average a premium of 5½ ⅌ cent. on their nominal value.
German, Swedish, Danish and Norwegian crowns	114 cents each
Old French crowns	110 cents each
German florins	41½ cents each
Prussian and Hanoverian thalers	73 cents each

American plate, best manufacture, 120c. @125c. ⅌ ounce.

Genuine British plate, 130c. ⅌ ounce.

Purchases will be made at the branch of the Mint at New-Orleans at ¼ ⅌ cent. lower than the
